ISVA and Advocacy

CARA provides Independent Sexual Violence Adviser (ISVA) and advocacy services for victims and survivors of sexual violence and child sexual abuse.

We work with adults, young people (aged 13-19), children of 12 and under and their families.

We work across mid and north Essex.

CARA's ISVA service

Independent Sexual Violence Advisers (ISVAs) provide emotional and practical support and information to victims and survivors of sexual violence who have reported to the police, or are considering reporting to the police.

If you have reported to the police, our team of qualified ISVAs can support you throughout the criminal justice process, working closely with the police and other agencies. The role of our ISVAs is to:

- Ensure your voice is heard
- Help you make the choices that feel right for you
- Accompanying you to important appointments and to court
- Support you with your next steps after the legal process is over, regardless of the outcome of the case.

If you are considering reporting to the police, our ISVAs can also help you, by:

- Providing you with impartial information to enable you to make an informed decision
- Offering an overview of police processes and what to expect if you do decide to report
- Supporting you in your next steps.

CARA's Advocacy service

CARA provides an advocacy service, providing practical support to victims and survivors of sexual violence on, for example, financial, legal and housing issues.
